HOAGLAND'S NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING! W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive Carriage Factory, Corner of Second and Morrison Streets. He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by M. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It … Gutta Percha … to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restive horses. It is easily … so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO AUGUST 1.

BY THE CABLES

Skirmishing About Saarbrucken

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Dispatches from Saarbrucken report operations of importance along the entire line. Yesterday an attack by the French was repulsed vigorously by the Prussians. To-day a large body of French troops have moved on to Forbach. The report that 5,000 Prussian Infantry from Saarlouis has discomfited a squadron of cavalry and three companies of Infantry is confirmed.

The common belief now as to the plans of the Emperor, is that the French will form at a point near Saarbrucken, southward, the southernmost division to advance on Strasburg, the next on Nancy, and the third to march on to Metz.

Attitude of Denmark.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A correspondent at Copenhagen writes on Tuesday that Denmark's neutrality was believed to be only temporary. The general feeling is decidedly warlike. The moment has arrived for Denmark to throw off her mask and openly side with France. Gotz is steadily for neutrality. The Cabinet will resign if the war party gets the upper hand.

A correspondent at Frankfort writes on Friday that it is fully believed to be the purpose of the Prussians to enter France.

News from French Sources.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The press says there has been no fighting on the Rhine, as widely rumored. The advance posts of Bavarian troops have fallen back upon the latter river. Several Prussian scouting parties lately crossed the Saar. Their movements were plainly seen by the French. It is not thought the Prussians will fight in that neighborhood, as first supposed.

French Troops Leaving Rome

FLORENCE, Aug. 1.—Negotiations between Italy and France for the withdrawal of French troops from Italian soil are brought to a satisfactory conclusion. The Italian Government guarantees the preservation of order in Rome, and the French troops have evacuated the city.

The Journal Official has information that the sympathies of the people of Danubian principalities are heartily with France.

Neutrality of Italy and Austria.

FLORENCE, Aug. 1.—Nazione states that an alliance to secure neutrality between England, Austria and Italy is nearly completed by those powers.

General Details.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A cable special to the Herald says preparations for war in Prussia are being carried on with great activity. Trenches are being opened two leagues from Cologne. An entrenched camp is established in the triangle formed by Cologne, Coblentz and Treves. The parks in Cologne, and the magnificent chateau of Bankor Oppenheim are used. Mayence is in a state of siege, and occupied by 27,000 soldiers. Trenches are opened in front of the city. Persons not able to provide themselves with 6 weeks provisions are notified to depart. A large force is encamped on the heights of Sanct Hubert, overlooking the valley of Lauch, which will protect an important group of coal mines in that place and command a junction of railroads from Bergen brock to Laudau, and between Mayence and Coblentz.

A formidable amount of war material and an immense body of troops have been collected. There will be an entire change of tactics hence forth. There will be no open campaign, and tactics will be similar to those hitherto employed in sieges, namely, an advance under cover of entrenchments. The Rhine provinces are being covered with improved works. The country between Colbentz and Mayence is entrenched and cut up. This new system of defense requires a new mode of attack. Hence the delay of the French advance. It is believed Prussia will raise her army to one million and a quarter soldiers and advance on France.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Three members of Parliament, Sir C. W. Dilke, Mr. Winterbottom and Egerton Herbert leave on Thursday for the Prussian army.

In the House of Commons to-day the debate on the war question brought out a large crowd. The feeling of the House was again strongly marked in favor of an energetic policy. When Cardwell, Secretary of War, proposed to vote for 200,000 additional troops and two millions sterling he was warmly cheered. So was Gladstone when he told Stapleton if colliers were chartered to attend the fleet of the belligerents to supply coal they will to all practical intents and purposes become store ships attached to that fleet and will come under the operation of the foreign enlistment act.

VIENNA, Aug. 1.—It is stated that Austria and Italy have settled upon a treaty which insures their neutrality.

MONTANA.

HELENA, August 1.—At the election of county officers to-day, Miss Annie Corella, of the Corella burlesque troupe, procured a ticket and proceeded to deposit it, but was challenged by a Democrat on the ground that she was not of age, but regardless of the challenge she cast her vote amid the plaudits of the spectators.

Another case of small pox is reported at Fort Benton. The miners drove all the Chinese out of the Moore creek mines about ten days ago.

NEVADA.

AUSTIN, August 1.—Wells, Fargo & Co. to-day shipped five bars of bullion from Manhattan mill, valued at $9,689 16.

A rich body of ore was struck in the Toulumne mine to-day in the vicinity of the Chase and Yankee Blade mine.

HAMILTON, August 1.—Hutchinson, arraigned on the charge of murder, was to day found guilty of manslaughter, with a recommendation of the jury that he be sentenced to the severest penalty of the law.

Wells, Fargo & Co. last week shipped bullion to the value of $72,265 49.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, August 1.—The ship Empress of the Seas, which has on board 1,317 tons of wheat and 41 tons of ore, appears to be too heavy, and she will have to discharge sufficiently to take in more ore or other ballast before sailing for Cork.

The post mortem examination on the body of Jim Dobson showed that the bullets had passed through the lungs and one of them, passing downward, had touched the liver, but the heart was untouched.

Isaac S. Josephi, the jeweler who failed and disappeared from here some weeks ago, died of apoplexy at Lima, Peru, June 27th. His life was insured for a very large sum.

A woman of the town committed suicide near the corner of Post and Dupont streets to-day. Her name was Barbara Wohlman, and she left an infant.

Holland Smith, who was Postmaster before Coey, has been appointed deputy under Coey.

A young Frenchman or Italian, known as … Leo, was found dead in the bills near … Landing, Marin county, having, as is supposed, died of heart disease.

The Alta and Chronicle have accepted the demand for an increase of the pay of compositors to 70 cents per 1,000 ems. The Call is willing to pay the same, but the printers refuse to work on it as the Bulletin … the arrangement. The proprietors of the Bulletin have refused. The printers earned last week an average of $… . The Bulletin will not advance rates, having secured … to do the work at the old rate. The … under this arrangement will advertise for hands at old rate.

Capt. Goll, of the ship America, committed suicide at … last month.

During July, 22 cases of insanity were examined by the Commissioners of Lunacy.

The steamer Pet, in her present condition, was sold on Saturday for $2,…

The Eureka Typographical Union has elected delegates to the Anti Chinese Convention.

Mrs. Susan A. King, the representative of a firm of wealthy ladies who have established a wholesale tea house in New York, left by the steamship Great Republic to-day for China and Japan, to purchase for the firm, and will make regular shipments by every steamer hereafter. The firm is said to represent $1,000,000.

Fire at Visalia.

VISALIA, August 1.—The drug-store occupied by Dr. … & Blair was badly damaged by fire this morning. Loss estimated at $5,000. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The cash drawer was robbed of checks to the amount of several hundred dollars. The restaurant of S. Kraft was also robbed. The amount stolen is said to be $100.

POLITICAL NOTES

Hon. Samuel McKee will take the stump in his old district, the Ninth Kentucky, during the present canvass, and will actively canvass other parts of the State. It is hoped that three Republican Congressional districts will be carried by the Republicans at the next election.

A dispatch to the Louisville Courier states that J. S. Golladay, of cadetship notoriety, is still making speeches in the Bowling Green (Ky.) District, "overcoming the prejudice against him, and will make a strong run for Congress."

The Cincinnati Enquirer, protesting against the Funding bill, says: "If this measure passes there will only be one resource, that of the entire repudiation of the debt, principal and interest." The Enquirer is one of the leading organs of what the Tammany Society designates as "the only party that knows how to govern the country."

The Indianapolis Journal says: "Senator Morton will leave for California about the first of August, but will return by the first of September, after which he will take an active part in the canvass."

Oregon Influence in the Senate.

[From the Eugene Journal.]

It is safe to say that no State is more ably or successfully represented in the Senate of the United States than Oregon by Senators Williams and Corbett. In all matters of legislation Oregon has been more favored than any other State having anything like the same population. Massachusetts, Maine, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, and Iowa—these great central States—have no greater influence in the Senate than Oregon, while such States as New Jersey, Ohio and California, with one Republican and one Democrat, are divided in their council, shorn of half their proper strength, and rank far behind Oregon in power. This has been shown on various occasions, too numerous to mention, and is so familiar to the public that no argument is necessary to prove it. The … of the facts is sufficient to convince a reasonable mind. Common sense and a moment's reflection will convince any just … that it must be so. In the House we have but one member—and can have only one during the next few years—among over 225. No matter how able he may be, or how warmly in sympathy with the majority, he can have but little influence in that vast assembly, and when in opposition to the majority, as at present, and as he will be for the next two years, his influence is very small. In the election of an administration we have but three votes out of … as at three hundred. So that nearly all the influence Oregon has or can have during the next ten years in national affairs, is and must be through her two Senators. While in harmony with both branches of Congress and the administration, they can wield a great positive power in the Senate, and at the same time exercise an influence with the House and the administration which is of priceless value to their constituents.

Now, nearly every Democrat in this State will admit that these are facts. And, putting politics aside for a moment, they will admit that to lose half of this power by the election of a Democrat to succeed Williams will be a detriment to the State. But they say they want a man who will represent their political views, not stopping to consider that he, being in a small minority, would be utterly powerless to change in the slightest degree any political measure which has or may be passed, and at the same time powerless to procure valuable legislation for his constituents. They all admit that Senator Williams is possessed of great ability, that his influence in the Senate is second to that of no other man, that he has a … position as a statesman at home and abroad, that he is capable of doing far more for Oregon than any other man who could be put in his place. These are points which do not admit of argument, they must be self-evident to Democrats everywhere. The best proof we could have that these considerations are felt and appreciated by Democrats, is the fact that the party politicians, who have no interest in our prosperity as a State and people, have raised a warning voice against the re-election of Williams, showing clearly that they think the great public interests of this young and growing State, now demanding so much fostering and care from the National Government will appeal so strongly to the good sense of Democrats in the Legislature as to make it possible for the politicians to array their whole party against him. All the most vital interests of the State—of Democrats as well as Republicans—will suffer when Geo. H. Williams leaves the Senate. Not only the interests of the whole State will receive a shock, but the people of Southern Oregon will suffer to a great extent—will be virtually ruined. They will be called upon to sacrifice more than any people ever sacrificed under similar circumstances, to gratify party prejudice or to please politicians. It seems that the politicians understand these things, and think they cannot reasonably expect all the Democrats in the State to disregard the plainest rules of common sense: the dearest interests of their neighbors, the counties they live in, and the whole State. Hence they have concluded to try to force their men to go it blind without regard to consequences or the interests of State, country, people, or locality. To accomplish this, they have resorted to strategy, and are charging all who are not as … corrupt, reckless, base, and unprincipled as themselves, with being traitors and subject to bribery and corruption. A thief is always the first to cry "rogue." A San Francisco paper raised the howl to try to frighten Democrats from doing their duty to their … and it is echoed by the party organs at Portland, Roseburg, and Jacksonville. These slanderers seem to take great … in charging their own party much better men than themselves with bribery and corruption. The organ at Portland charged … at the late election with being bought and sold like glass-eyed Cayuse … in the market, and the Black, … which … the dirty work here, openly charged … as if this country, who had manhood enough to vote as they pleased, with being bribed. That vagabond element in the party which has little or no interest in the country and nothing to lose, and which would at any time be glad to sell its influence for a very small sum, if anybody could be found foolish enough to buy it, is … trying to dictate and rule respectable … of the organization, who have … [illegible] … by the people, that it will not deceive any one … to deter any member of the … party … If the Democrats … in the interest of the Central Pacific … of Southern Oregon of a rail … that … business, and whatever we … think of their judgment, we would have no right and no disposition to charge them with bribery, notwithstanding it was … on the stump in the canvass, by the representative of certain "capitalists" and bankers that they would be there with "a hundred thousand dollars to defeat Williams."

THE TERRITORIES.

The Jordan creek valley (near Owyhee) was visited by a frost the other night which destroyed all the vegetable gardens.

The editors of the Victoria Standard and C… amused the street strollers of that city the other day with a pugilistic entertainment.

The Walla Walla Union says pack trains are daily arriving at that place from the Cedar Creek mines, and all persons who have been there speak in a highly favorable manner of the mines.

C. G. Caples writes from Monticello that a mineral spring has been discovered on Mr. Bennett's farm near that place, which is strongly impregnated with magnesia and other salts. Persons who have used the waters have found the effects very beneficial.

The greater part of the military posts in Alaska Territory are to be abandoned. There has been a vast amount of money expended by our Government at the north, in erecting military posts, which, from present indications, seems to have been wantonly thrown away.

The Sultan river mines, about sixty miles from Seattle, are yielding a good deal of gold. One hundred and twelve ounces of dust, valued at $16 an ounce, from these mines has been shipped to San Francisco recently from Seattle. About thirty men are at work in the mines.

A deserter from H. M. S. Scylla was seen at Port Townsend the other day. He was in a most destitute state—minus hat and coat and boots, and complained that he had not tasted food for two days. But for the fear of punishment he would have returned to Victoria.

The editor of the Vancouver Register is "going for his enemies" gets in a blow at one "who tried to raise twenty five cents to send a telegram to the United States Senate to prevent his (the editor's) confirmation," as Register of the Land Office. It seems, however, that the influential politician couldn't raise that sum.

Seattle is without a fire department, and the local paper says that the insurance companies will take no risks in the business part of the town. This remark is added: "In our present condition, we are on sufferance, and it is only a question of time as to when our streets will be a blaze, and our business men have but a mass of rubbish and ashes to count upon as their assets."

Utah has been troubled with a grasshopper plague. A recent writer says that in passing through Salt Lake City he saw people at work in the gardens attached to nearly every homestead driving the grasshoppers in swarms out of the enclosures, using green boughs to whip them with, and "smudges" to discourage them from coming back. A person walking along the street would have a cloud of them rising before him at every step. The grasshopper is, next to polygamy, the greatest curse of Utah. In the vicinity of Salt Lake they have but a limited field to work upon, and, when they come out in full strength, they sweep every green thing before them, and the unhappy farmer sees the fruits of his year of toil destroyed in a day or week, as completely as if a conflagration had passed over his fields.

FOREIGN NOTES.

People have been saying for years past that Napoleon wouldn't dare to risk the chances of his throne and dynasty by entering upon a war. Suddenly he turns up the most implacable belligerent in Europe.

Our summer travelers to Europe this season will, probably, from this war, be reduced to one-half, or even as low as one third of the number who went over for "the grand tower," beginning at Paris, last summer. We shall, perhaps, keep in the country ten or fifteen millions of money which otherwise would go to Europe to be squandered there. So the old maxim will still apply, "It is an ill wind that blows nobody any good."

We are told that one of the reasons why the French Emperor desires war is that it would consolidate all parties in France in favor of his government. At the same time we are told that Bismarck looks favorably on war as a means of consolidating the strength of the North German Confederation, and especially of welding to Prussia the States which were forcibly annexed after the war of 1866. It is quite possible that such ideas float through the minds of Napoleon and Bismarck.

A Paris special correspondent writes to the London News, dated July 25th, as follows: Never has war been undertaken by the French with less enthusiasm or more distrust of success. The crowds on the Boulevards who were ready to die for their country have all disappeared. Troops are marching through Paris to take trains for the seat of war, and they traverse the streets without eliciting a cheer. Soldiers joining their regiments walk about in groups, almost all of them drunk, and the Bourgeoise stare at them and shrug their shoulders. Paris could not be more melancholy if the Prussians were at the gates of the city.

The London Daily News, which has brilliantly led the opinion of England on war questions, said on the 26th ult., in speaking of the alleged secret treaty: "Our Imperial friend and ally is presented in an aspect not calculated to win back English sympathy. With his consent Napoleon was ready not only to throw over our alliance for a better one, but to break it at any moment by a military advance into Belgium, not only in direct infraction of our friendship but in defiance of our power. It is difficult to believe there was so much bad faith did Prussia also listen to such proposal. There is a certain insolence of tone toward Prussia in the document, suggesting that it was a kind of ultimatum, while a real inducement was held out to Prussia. Meantime the whole political interest of the Government is concentrated in this publication. We should be glad to have a competent assurance that no such proposal was known to either Government. Public opinion in this country is already sufficiently weighty in Prussia's favor, but this truly would make our neutrality difficult if not impossible."

The Empress of the French has commemorated the great benefactor of the Spanish race, Christoval Columbus, or Colon, by dispatching a statue of him to the city named after him as Colon on the Isthmus, but called Aspinwall. Her majesty hopes this memorial will meet the gaze of travelers of all nations.

The friends of Mrs. Lincoln at Washington, say that it is doubtful whether she will accept the pension voted her by Congress, on account of the manner in which it was granted. It was thought that if she would write a letter refusing it and appeal to the country, she would meet with a generous response. Colonel Ward H. Lamon, who was Marshal of the District of Columbia under President Lincoln, authorizes the statement that he will be one of three to guarantee Mrs. Lincoln $3,000 per annum as long as she lives, if she will decline the pension voted her by Congress.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST [illegible]

The Senatorial Wrangle

T[illegible] Senatorial position [illegible] new-papers [illegible] leak out [illegible] the platform [illegible] [illegible] state of greater excitement than [illegible] June election. The suspense with some of them is becoming really painful. Not one of the legion of candidates [illegible] is satisfied with the [illegible] conflicting interests to be [illegible] and who is the man who will [illegible] satisfactory [illegible] which the candidates have been making for some weeks past does not [illegible] any of them with lively hopes. [illegible] Kelly for instance probably has [illegible] other single candidate, [illegible] painfully evident to him that he [illegible] and there is an exceedingly slim chance for him to obtain enough to secure his election. Members of the Legislature in different parts of the State are evincing a refractory disposition, and indicating that, inasmuch as they are in a position to advance the real and substantial interests of their constituents, they will be a little careful in their action and not pledge themselves to those who may be mixed up in schemes and jobs detrimental to their own section of the State. Southern Oregon wants a railroad and certainly does not want anybody for Senator who has either been a partisan of the Humboldt-Eugene branch or who would be likely to succumb hereafter to that influence. This places Kelly and other aspirants in an embarrassing position. Several of them are understood to have aided in the movement to deprive the southern counties of a railroad. Now Kelly, unless he gives positive pledges to support the measure instituted by Williams which he and his whole party vehemently denounced before the election cannot get the southern vote and it may be doubtful after what he has done whether he could get it even by humiliating himself so much as to give a pledge to support that measure. And then if he should pronounce for the southern branch railway, and declare his willingness to do all in his power to carry out the measure which Williams has been censured for proposing, a new danger would beset him. The opposing interest, led by those who made the assault on Williams for his agency in this matter, would become his enemies, and would take votes away from him. Between these and similar rocks of difficulty there appears to be no middle course through which prudence, craft or cowardice might find a safe passage. Of late there have been many anxious meetings of the politicians here and much travelling has been done to different parts of the State to interview members of the Legislature in behalf of various candidates. Every day the anxiety becomes deeper and more intense, the newspapers betray the general concern that is felt in the party and with one accord they are protesting that the Democratic members never can be bought, that they think too much of the party and their own reputations to take "Radical gold" and that it would be highly dangerous for them to take it and go back on the party that elected them. All this sounds very much as if it were felt that some of the Democratic members were growing weak and needed encouragement and a supply of backbone. But the true state of the case is that some of them like sensible men, are evidently disposed to turn a deaf ear alike to the blandishments and threats of anxious candidates and consult the interests and wants of the State in the election of a Senator.

Another Explanation of Summer Heats

Scientific information which will enable all to understand the causes of the excessive heats of the present summer must afford to a broiled and grilled people great satisfaction. The Chicago Tribune, ever since the great eclipse of last year, has kept an astronomer employed on its editorial columns. Some time ago he predicted that the present summer would be a cool one. He had discovered large spots on the sun which he argued would surely diminish the force of the solar rays. Well, the summer has so far been an unusually hot one, and the Chicago seer feels the necessity of some sort of an explanation. He therefore presents a solution of the mystery. He maintains that the presence of the sun-spots do actually cause a considerable reduction in the amount of heat supplied to the earth, but then there is another hitherto unobserved element in the problem. For if there is diminished heat of course there is diminished evaporation from the ocean. And next we are reminded that two-fifths of all the heat received by the earth from the sun is carried off by evaporation. Then what follows? Plainly that as the rain fall is diminished very little heat is carried off in this way. In other words, it is too dry to rain, there is no chance for the caloric to escape and the spots on the sun have done it all. It is evident that the great truths of science are now irrefragably established. But the reasoning is remarkably like that of old Parson Saunders, the famous mathematician who had a singular way of proving that minus into minus produces plus. After reciting a parcel of shreds of poetry and scraps from Æsop's fables he would jump at once to his ergo: minus into minus makes plus. The Chicago astronomer is still at work [illegible] to tackle everything in the line of celestial phenomena.

Why should a war in Europe cause United States securities there to decline. This question is frequently asked as if it were a mystery not readily accounted for. It is evident that the decline is not caused by any loss of confidence in the solvency of our country for that is in no wise affected by a foreign war. The true cause of the depression is the sudden and great demand for money which the war has created. Much of the business in bonds is speculative. The bond are not held for permanent investment. A disturbance of the money market compels speculators to throw their bonds on the market and the result is a depression of their cash value. Almost every operator is at all times more or less in debt, and when a panic occurs he must realize to meet his obligations. The prices at which our bonds are quoted in Germany is just now considerably below their value in New York, which must ere long lead to the return of them in large amounts to this country.

Under the caption of "American Ingratitude" the San Francisco Monitor expresses its "regret to see that the sympathies of the majority of the United States newspapers are most unreservedly given to Prussia in the present war."

Land office reports show a large increase of entries of land in Walla Walla county.

The French and German Press on the War

[illegible] that Americans [illegible] [illegible] at present [illegible] and very generally express their sympathy with one side or the other. When people of America in the interest [illegible] war it is not surprising that those among us who are natives of France or Germany [illegible] [illegible] their respective countries and each bitterly attacks the opposing Power. The most prominent French journal in the United States is the Courrier des Etats Unis published in New York. In a leading article [illegible] declaration of war by France it expresses in the most unqualified terms its sympathy with the Imperial policy and manifests the greatest confidence in the result of the struggle. It declares that the course of France toward Prussia has been one of forbearance, while that of Prussia toward Germany and France has been one of aggression. It goes on to say:

The conflict now preparing is in our opinion a fatal necessity which had to be met with resignation sooner or later. It is the last installment of a debt bequeathed to the present along with the heritage handed down by a mournful past. France has her legitimate influence to maintain, her legitimate pride to defend. We will not here retrace the marches and counter-marches of Prussia, her stealthy invasions, and her persevering attempts to envelope within the circle of her influence, and even of her direct domination—nationalities and sovereignties not included within the regions of her recognized annexations. We have but to recollect the latest intrigue that she set on foot or at least favored and which was to deliver up our southern frontier to her in contempt of the rights and traditions that make the independence of the nation in question an essential condition of our safety. In the presence of this exorbitant pretension, which is a decisive manifestation of the jealous spirit that animates Prussia, France has but one position to assume, and that is to demand guarantees against any possible surprise in the future. Well, those guarantees could be of but one kind. We cannot have our ears continually on the alert to hear in what direction Prussia is digging her mines, and it is out of the question for us to be on hand to check her every time upon the verge of her covetous desires. There remains to us, then, only to make sure of an extension of our national boundaries to compensate for the aggrandizement of our adversary. Such is the meaning of the war now opening. At this hour the hearts of all Frenchmen beat in unison. "To the Rhine" is the cry of the whole nation. United as it is now, as it has always been and as it always will be in any great question of national honor and security, it is invincible. May God protect our arms. Vive la France.

The German press on the other hand talks as stoutly in favor of Prussia. The Staats-Zeitung the leading German press of New York in an article on the war, declares that this struggle is to be the final combat involving the disappearance of the Latin races from Europe. We quote:

A glance at history shows that the Latin race has for centuries been constantly going down. France alone thanks to the Germanic elements with which she is mixed, developed a great strength and if her rulers had used this strength for other purposes than those of personal ambition, she might also, perhaps, have reached the rule of the world, to which she, as superior of the Romanic nations, aspired. But at Leipsic, and then at Waterloo, this aim was frustrated for the first time, and the giant combat commencing now is to decide, whether France will be more successful the second time.

The article from which this is taken is so emphatic a manifestation of German opinion as to induce us to give more of it:

Aiming still higher than his uncle did, he has devised the grand programme of making the Latin race dominant on the Continent of Europe and in Central America and with the assistance of the then most powerful Germanic power, the English, he was in the Crimean war, by the humiliation of Russia, successful in the first step toward this end. Three years afterward, when well armed, he made up his mind, together with the new Roman ally won in the former war, Sardinia, to take the second step, which he did by challenging to war Austria, in whose aged hand resided the influence of the Germanic race on the Continent. After a short fight of three lucky battles, he saw the proud Hapsburg chief asking for peace in his tent. Thus the Germanic influence in Europe was fundamentally broken, and the French Emperor exercised in fact the supremacy on the European Continent. But with his success his ambition was increased, his eyes were turned across the ocean, and, taking advantage of the civil war of the American people, he sought to establish, by the erection of a throne supported by French bayonets, his superiority over the Anglo-Germanic race in this part of the world. But the frivolous attempt, to which he was invited by the suggestions of his Spanish wife, was defeated by the indestructible vigor of the American Union, and acting upon a hint from the United States, the Napoleonite was compelled to withdraw his army from desolated Mexico. In doing so, he showed his cowardly fear and was covered with ignominy, in having deserted the unfortunate Prince to the revenge of the Mexican Republic. By this deed his (thus far) proverbial luck was brought to an end, and from that time everything went wrong with him, and after the Germanic influence, which he thought he had broken forever on the battle-field of Northern Italy, was established again by the victory of Prussia won over Austria at Sadowa, he was obliged to look on and see the German Empire reconstructed in the heart of Europe. By the victorious foundation of the North German Union by the promotion of the King of Prussia to Commander in Chief of all the German armies the sway of the Latin races was practically broken. The German people were thus assured of their return to a leading position in politics, but Napoleon did not comprehend the importance of the fact. He did not understand the irresistible innate longing of the German people for national unity nor the absolute impossibility of checking it. He endeavored to scatter secretly the seeds of discord among the German people—exciting hostility among the enemies of Prussia great and small, against that Power. He conspired with the Roman hierarchy against the Protestant tendencies of the ascending Power, and at the same time by arming incessantly for war by using means far above the economical resources of the French people he prepared for the decisive day when he might by his military superiority crush the dangerous rival and throw Germany back into her former weakness and dismemberment. But all his doings effected only the contrary of what he aimed at.

These extracts from the leading French and German papers of the United States are a vigorous exposition of the antagonism [illegible] which lies at the bottom of the present contest. The struggle is one that a long series of events has rendered inevitable. Viewed from her own standpoint France must fight. Viewed from a German standpoint France is the aggressor and Prussia is merely defending her own rights and the integrity of Germany.

CALIFORNIA ITEMS

Samuel C Coombs who hatches eggs by heat at Vallejo is meeting with marked success. The capacity of his oven is over 200 dozen at one sitting.

About 25 000 acres have been cultivated on General Bidwell's farm, in Butte county this year, equally divided between wheat and barley. The barley yield was fifty bushels to the acre, wheat was above the average.

Some time ago says the Stockton Republican we recorded the attempt of a man named Swan to commit suicide in the San Joaquin river which proved abortive, owing to the fact that he was a good swimmer. Now it appears that the corpse of a man, supposed to be that of the unhappy Swan has been discovered near Moore's Landing. Several ladies went from the latter place down to the banks of the San Joaquin river and while there one of them discovered on the other side of the river under some willows a corpse floating. Justice Hutchings being made acquainted with the fact went with several gentlemen and got him out when it was discovered that a sack full of broken bricks weighing about fifty pounds was attached to the body. Upon a jury being impaneled they returned a verdict of suicide by drowning. Poor Swan is at rest now for the weary wounded heart beats with sorrow no more.

Political News

C[illegible] A[illegible] —A Times Washington special says the investigation into charges made by the colored cadet at West Point does not so far substantiate them.

There is an almost certain prospect of two colored members of the House in the Forty-second Congress. James Harris from the Fourth district North Carolina and R B Elliott Assistant Adjutant General of South Carolina from the Fourth District of that State. In the latter case the contest is between Hogan and White the present member. Elliott has a colored majority of several thousands and his election is assured.

There are indications of trouble in North Carolina at the coming election. The Raleigh [illegible] received here last night advises its friends to arm themselves and be on their guard on the eve of election.

A dispatch from Canton, Ill. says a terrible pestilence is spreading through all the towns on the Illinois river above and below Canton landing. It is supposed to be caused by stench from thousands of decaying fish which for a long distance, either way line the banks. The people along the bottoms are compelled to go back to the bluffs.

Cuban News

New York Aug 2.—A Havana correspondent gives the details of more executions. Skirmishing and fighting still go on in the mountains and hills. Yellow fever and cholera are doing the Spanish army more harm than the Cubans. The Spanish gunboats are closely watching the coast for the steamer Salvador, which is reported to have recently left this port with arms, ammunition and men.

London Aug 2.—The Daily News says: We have every reason to be contented with the condition of our national defences, which, with the augmentations already proposed, will be quite adequate to support a well secured neutrality and might if a calamity should befall us, quickly expand into a force quite strong enough to sustain us in any struggle. Our appeal to the arbitration of arms is the very last to which we should willingly resort, but we may rest assured that it is neither so distant from the thoughts of the Ministry as to be deemed impossible nor so alien from their counsels as to find them unprepared.

UTAH.

Corinne, Aug 1.—J H Beadle to-day assumed charge of the Daily Utah Reporter.

The election in this Territory passed off quietly. Geo R Maxwell, Gentile candidate for delegate to Congress, received 860 votes in Corinne, Ogden, 260, Wahsatch, 160, Kelton, 170, Terrace 56. A dispatch from Salt Lake places the Liberal vote there at 500. Other points unheard from probably give 2 000 Liberal vote. Mormon women voted in neighboring towns, but none here.

Row Among the Newspapers.

San Francisco, Aug 2.—To the public: An affidavit signed W Neilson charging me with surreptitiously obtaining and appropriating for the benefit of the associated press news items collected by him, appears to-day in a paper, one of the proprietors of which I caught in the act of issuing the famous "bogus extra," purporting to have been issued from the Alta and Bulletin offices, and had him indicted for the same. I will only say in reply that I have already given a full fair and truthful statement of the matter through the columns of the papers for which I act as telegraphic correspondent, and do not propose to bandy epithets with him on this or any other subject. I would suggest, however, as he appears to feel that his statements require to be backed by an extra judicial oath to be believed, and as he is a comparative stranger among us, that his affidavit might possibly be materially strengthened by one from a few reliable persons to the effect that they knew him under that name in H B M's Australian Colonies and would believe him when under oath. He states that Dr W F Smith Professor etc saw me stealthily purloin the items in question and will swear to the fact. Now if Dr Smith will swear to any such statement I will cheerfully give him an opportunity to make good his statement in a court of justice, though I do not value Neilson's statements sufficient to give such attention to them alone. In conclusion I will say that I have been in the habit of daily exchanging items with the reporters of the Alta and gave this Neilson the stock reports, etc, several times last week. In return I never took anything from that office or any other without the full knowledge and in the presence of the local editor, and that any and all statements to the effect that I have done so or acknowledging having done so as he asserts are utterly and unqualifiedly false.

[illegible]DNESDAY MORNING AUGUST 3 1870

CITY.

A PRECIOUS PAIR OF BILKS We find the following item, in the material facts of which a number of Portland firms seem to be interested in the Walla Walla [illegible] of July 30th Some time last March a man by the name of Finkin was on his way from Grande Ronde to Portland and had in his pocket eight hundred and fifty dollars, which he had earned at hard work At The Dalles he fell in with a man by the name of Goddard, who represented himself as having come from New Orleans lately Goddard soon persuaded Finkin that the best thing he could do with his money was to let him take it and go with one hundred that he had of his own and go into co partnership in the mercantile business This was agreed upon and they went to Portland, laid in a stock of goods paying part down but getting the greater portion on time. They then came to Walla Walla and went into business Goddard seemed to be the principal man of the firm had a nice smooth tongue, and any amount of brass but about the fourth day of this month Finkin went to La Grande to collect some money and by the ninth Goddard had formed a copartnership with a gentleman of our city and had pledged to his new partner nearly all the goods belonging to Goddard & Finkin to secure this second partner for the sum of fifteen hundred dollars which he is said to have borrowed from him and Goddard started for San Francisco to buy a stock of reapers, headers, mowers threshers fanning mills, plows, harrows, and in short a general assortment of agricultural implements which he contemplated bringing to this city and he and his new partner were going into an agricultural store [illegible] These things all being arranged in Finkin's absence, Goddard took the stage for [illegible] and then took the steamer for Portland [illegible] he arrived at Umatilla he changed his mind, and, no doubt, thinking himself neither adapted to sell canned fruit nor threshing machines, concluded to debark and take the stage for the railroad since which time he has not been heard from. After a few days Finkin returned from La Grande and to his great surprise found that Goddard had gone to San Francisco and had realized the goods belonging to the firm in order to raise money with which to go into business with another man After mature deliberation Finkin [illegible] to conclude that as he had been bilked he would get even by bilking his [illegible] creditors so on Thursday night at [illegible] o'clock, Finkin executed a bill of sale of all the goods left in the store worth some eight or nine hundred dollars, and on Friday morning he started out of town on foot but whether he has gone in search of Goddard or after an invoice of threshing machines we are not informed. Soon after leaving town, dispatches came from Portland and a warrant of arrest was issued against him, as an absconding debtor but at this time we have not heard of his being arrested The losers are that Corbitt & Macleay and McCraken, Merrill & Co, of Portland are losers to the full amount of what the firm of Goddard & Finkin owed them which we learn amounted to $2 700 The only show they have is to replevin the goods that belong to the firm We should think that the fact of a merchant selling out his whole stock of goods at midnight and the purchaser moving them before four o'clock in the morning would make a pretty strong figure in a case of bankruptcy at least it does not give the transaction an air of honesty

Since the above was in type we learn that Finkin has been arrested

FROM ASTORIA —Items from our regular correspondent:

ASTORIA, July 29 —A boat formerly belonging to the steamship [illegible] with four men in it came in to-day from Port Townsend by way of Shoal Water Bay The boat is about [illegible] tons burden Rumor says she is connected with smuggling affairs

A party of three gentlemen returned this evening from a fishing excursion with 150 large trout, the result of one day's fishing on the Klaskanine creek

July 30.—Several gentlemen and ladies from Portland, went on a trip to the forts and light house at Cape Disappointment.

Mr T. J. [illegible], of your city, has been spending a few days outside the Bar on the pilot boat, fishing, and to-day he caught a halibut weighing [illegible] pounds.

JURORS.—The following is a list of the jurors [illegible] yesterday, for the special term of the Circuit Court, to be held in this county August 16th [illegible], farmer, Phillip Wasserman, merchant, [illegible] farmer, Wm Abernethy manufacturer, [illegible], farmer, Chas F Keuhn, jeweler, [illegible] cabinet maker, O R [illegible] speculator, [illegible] farmer, Phillip Cohen, speculator, [illegible], liquor dealer Levi Estes [illegible], Henry Failing, banker, W W [illegible], David Monastes, speculator [illegible], stable keeper W B Norman, merchant, Chas. Burkhard, saddler S G Reed speculator, [illegible], stable keeper J R Prindle [illegible], farmer, D F Buxton [illegible], music dealer C O [illegible] Burk carpenter J B [illegible] Colburn Barrell farmer James [illegible], painter, J H Fryer merchant W [illegible], farmer.

[illegible] —It is a very noticeable fact [illegible] the excitement in town has assumed a [illegible] portending danger to the burglars thieves and [illegible] in the city, the numbers of that sort [illegible] have greatly decreased The larger portion of them have skedaddled There are [illegible] fifty or sixty fewer faces of that class to be seen on the streets now than a week or ten [illegible] They have done wisely to get up and get, for they were getting into tight places. The patience of honest people was getting [illegible] and a few days more such as was the [illegible] would have witnessed the exit on [illegible] of a half dozen or more of characters who are already spotted for a passage [illegible] Styx. We advise that crowd to [illegible] the balance of the season or better [illegible] emigrate to some other country They [illegible] Portland healthy

SUSPICIOUS INDICATIONS —A gentleman who [illegible] from Oregon City yesterday morning [illegible] reports that he saw in a number of [illegible] indications that the woods are infested by [illegible] do not live or travel in the usual way [illegible] of persons who had come out of one [illegible] and gone into another were seen in several places. In addition to these surface indications, there are several cases of petty thievery reported as having occurred at farm houses during [illegible] It is probable that many of the [illegible] who have recently emigrated from this [illegible] are lurking through the woods of the surrounding country waiting for the social atmosphere to clear up

ROMANTIC AND POETIC —An Idaho paper has [illegible] of a devil—a regular romantic and [illegible] This is the way the local editor puts [illegible] "Our devil says if his wish could be [illegible] sultry weather he would choose to [illegible] 'With Nothing to Wear' in The Old Arm [illegible] the 'Lone Rock by the Sea,' with 'Little [illegible]' the 'Pretty Octoroon' chewing gum on [illegible] and 'Gunboat Sam' and 'Champagne [illegible]' pouring 'A Little More Cider' down his [illegible] with a silver tube by the Light of other [illegible] that's what he would term ecstatic [illegible]

ENGAGED FOR THE PUBLIC SCHOOL Prior to the election of Prof Gatch to the Presidency of the Wallamet University he had been tendered a position in one of our Public Schools and it was understood he would take it but his acceptance of the Presidency left the other position vacant We learn that the Directors have now engaged Mr Thos H Crawford who was for two or three years with Mr Gatch in the Portland Academy Mr Crawford is one among the most successful teachers of the country and his engagement in the Public School is considered a very fortunate one

OUR DAILY RECORD OF ROBBERIES ETC —We are informed that late on Monday evening as Mr Masters, a young man employed as a clerk in a store in this city was going home he was stopped by a footpad who wanted his valuables Masters drew a pistol and the footpad backed off, but followed Masters home using threatening language

Passengers by the boat from the upper river yesterday report that there was a case of burglary and theft at Aurora Monday night Some rogue broke into a house and got away with some boots clothing etc

THE SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCY VACANT —Mr T M Gatch having accepted the Presidency of the Wallamet University has resigned the office of School Superintendent of Multnomah county, to which he was chosen at the late election The vacancy has not yet been filled though it probably will be during this term of the County Court There are several applicants each supported by recommendations from our best citizens

RECEPTION TO SENATOR WILLIAMS AND GENERAL CANBY —The seamship Oriflamme did not arrive last evening as was expected and consequently the intended receptions to distinguished passengers were postponed till this morning The signal gun will be fired at half past eight this morning and the excursion steamer will start from the O S N Co's wharf at precisely nine o'clock

SHIPPING —On Monday the bark Webfoot was towed down the river from St Helens to Astoria, and the ship Hertha will be towed down to day. The former is bound for San Francisco and the latter for Callao South America Both vessels will proceed to sea as soon as practicable.

PILOT BOAT ACCEPTED —The Pilot Commissioners having fully tested the tugboat Astoria have finally accepted her under the provisions of the law granting a subsidy

THE CASCADE PORTAGE RAILROAD —The steamer for the Cascades this morning will take a large lot of material for the repair of the Cascade Portage railroad

U S CIRCUIT COURT —This court convened yesterday morning but adjourned without transacting any business

OREGON

The Salem Statesman notices a supply of gas mains being hauled through town which indicates that the gas works are to go on

The Farmer states that the route to the ocean beach at Salmon river is crowded with visitors The wagon road is in good order, and there are excellent places for camping along the route

The testimony in the contested cases in Yamhill county was closed on Saturday last Judge Boise has the matter now under advisement, and will probably render a decision in a few days

Last Week B F Goodman purchased of N Conegys two hundred acres of land situated three miles above Springfield in the Forks of the Wallamet at $20 per acre Land in all parts of the valley is rising rapidly in value

The Corvallis Mercury says Mr Joseph Hamilton whose farm lies across the river in Linn county opposite Corvallis, has just threshed and garnered eight hundred bushels of oats off a ten acre field which has been under cultivation 28 years

From the Eugene Journal Messrs Stratton & Gray have bought and shipped 61 618 pounds of wool this season This is a large amount for one firm to handle considering that there are probably a half dozen firms in town which have all bought wool this season

A correspondent at Dallas writes to the States [illegible] a letter concerning some of the vagaries of the Dallas Republican from which we make an extract Remembering the charges of corruption and fraud made by the Oregon Republican (so called) against the Democrats, in the late election in this county—malfeasance of the judges of election, etc by which numerous legal votes were lost to our party as well as many fraudulent votes secured by the opposition you must have been surprised to see the same paper confess in a late issue that the Democrats had a fair majority in this county of 30 or 40 votes The gentleman claims a membership in the Republican party and will not leave it although its name and dogmas have justly driven hundreds of thousands of good men like him of his views from its ranks When justice demanded that he should leave our party why did he not go

The Key West Dispatch says that fleets of sponging vessels have returned to that port from cruises well loaded The aggregate worth of the new sponge in the market there is stated to be $30 000 The supply about the Keys is nearly exhausted

MRS A J CHAMBERS will learn something to her advantage by calling on WELLS FARGO & CO

OUR CITIZENS certainly deserve credit for the energy they display to make the Oregon Immigration and Labor Exchange a success and benefit to the State as well as the immigrants coming to our State [illegible] ... [illegible] "strangers [illegible] our State [illegible] than that K[illegible] [illegible] street, [illegible] largest stock of [illegible] their goods are of superior quality and sold at extreme low prices

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY is no Patent Medicine Humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous nor is it represented as being composed of rare and precious substances brought from the four corners of the earth carried seven times across the Great Desert of Sahara on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic on two ships It is a mild soothing pleasant Remedy; a perfect specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh Cold in the head and kindred diseases The proprietor R V Pierce M D of Buffalo N Y (whose private Government Stamp is on every package of the Genuine) offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh he cannot cure For sale by druggists. Sent by mail postpaid for sixty cents. Address the proprietor as above

FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL

A German telegraph [illegible] has [illegible] a mode of sharpening with machinery [illegible] any number of steel [illegible] by the agency of the magnetic current [illegible] may be applied to the manufacture of pins and needles and do away with the present [illegible] of [illegible] the points so injurious and extensively fatal to the workmen

Specimens of new silver coinage have been struck at the United States Mint in Philadelphia of the denominations of 10 [illegible] and 50 cents Three different specimens of each of these denominations have been submitted to the Treasury Department for approval The standard value of the new coin is reduced so as to correspond in actual value with the present currency with a view to its immediate use instead of the 10 [illegible] and 50 cent notes

An eastern paper says Mr Field's project for a Pacific cable to China and Japan is one of the grandest projects of the age since it will place this country in direct communication with the far off East thereby giving additional luster to our flag and increasing our commerce in that direction To further aid him in his great project Mr Field has obtained the services of Captain Caesar Moreno the well known Asiatic traveler whose familiarity with Oriental customs will be of great value in securing the friendship and cooperation of the Orientals

An important railroad meeting was held at Fort Wayne Indiana a few days since by the leading railroad men of the country the object being to arrange for the completion of the Fort Wayne and Pacific Railroad The road can be built through Illinois at a cost of five thousand dollars per mile There have been three hundred thousand dollars subscribed as local aid in Indiana and considerable grading done in Ohio Committees were appointed to look after the interests of the road at large The line will run from New London through Fort Wayne to Omaha a distance of about eight hundred miles The present prospects for getting the road under contract are very flattering

From the Oregon [illegible] In the discussions in Congress an effort was made to strike out the duty on coal from the tariff It was temporarily successful Under the proposed new policy the owners of the Nanaimo coal beds strained all possible efforts to get a large quantity of coal ready for market. They thought they could break down the company which is making improvements to render available the immense beds of valuable coal near Seattle The Nanaimo company have 15 000 tons of coal for market It is bad luck to them but righteous good fortune and justice to our Seattle enterprise that the old duty of one dollar a ton for coal from foreign countries has been restored

The steel rails made by John A Griswold & Co Troy N Y are tested in the following manner 1 A small test ingot from each five ton ladleful of liquid steel is hammered into a bar and tested for malleability and hardness and especially for toughness by bending it double cold In case any test bar falls below the standard established as suitable for the rails all the ingots cast from that ladleful of steel are laid aside for other uses 2 An ingot seven inches square is drawn into a bar three inches square This bar is laid on iron supports one foot apart the iron supports resting directly on a fifty ton anvil block A steam hammer ram weighing seven tons is then dropped on the centre point of the bar between the supports with such a fall that the bar shall permanently bend at least to an angle of one in twelve The bar is then reversed with the convex side up and the blow is repeated bending it straight again If the bar breaks or shows signs of fracture under the reverse blow the whole charge of steel from which the test ingot was made is rejected If it does not break the test is continued reversing after each blow until fracture occurs The grade is then marked on each ingot of the charge and to prevent mistakes no ingot not so marked is allowed to go into the rail mill

Supervisor Presbery of Virginia makes the following report The collections from manufactured tobacco in the State of Virginia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1870 amounted to $4 146 0[illegible]7 being an excess or gain over the previous fiscal year of $2 643 59[illegible] an increase of nearly 180 per cent. The total revenue from the same source, collected by tax paid tobacco stamps for sixteen months from March 1 1869 under the present administration amounted to the sum of $5 114 521 while the collections from the same source for the fiscal years of 1867 1868 and eight months of 1869 amounted to the sum of $1 446 120 showing $3 674,401 more collected in the past sixteen than was collected in the previous forty four months In addition to the taxes collected from tobacco in the various districts in the State during the last sixteen months there were shipped in bond for export and for withdrawal for consumption in other markets outside of the State 23 159 935 pounds, the tax upon which if credited to Virginia, would show a contribution during the period above named to the national Treasury of over $8,000 000 The prospects of the new tobacco crop and the general condition of the trade indicate a hopeful future both to the planter and manufacturer and warrant the expectation of a still larger revenue to the government during the present fiscal year

CURRENT NOTES

The Chinese shoemakers at North Adams embrace several capital chess players They repay the teachings of their young American friends by instructing them in that scientific and engrossing game

France has a very formidable vessel of war in the Rochambeau formerly the Dunderburg built for the United States Navy but sold to France in 1867, for $2 000,000 She is an immense iron plated ram displacing 7 000 tons of water and has a larger deck surface than any war vessel ever constructed

The District Attorney of Tazewell county Ill, who was recently acquitted on a charge of bribery and corruption follows the Rory O More idea of odd numbers and has commenced thirty nine suits for libel against as many different parties laying the damage in the aggregate at $390 000 —probably a sum moderate enough under the circumstances

We have by cable from Paris the plan of the campaign for the French army It is really very fine The army will first enter Hesse and then occupy the city of Frankfort from which it will sweep all the Prussian territory left of the Rhine It will next march through Prussia which it will first proceed to conquer and subsequently will reconstruct This is almost as admirable as the plans of campaigns which used to be got up in this country by some of our newspaper strategists in the first year of the war against the Southern Confederacy

Says the New York Tribune Yorktown one of the best purely agricultural townships in Westchester county shows a gain of only 58 inhabitants since 1860 This result will be paralleled in the average throughout the strictly rural portion of our whole State Our gain of population whether it prove nearer one million or half a million will be found almost wholly confined to our cities and villages No doubt the same thing will be observed in nearly all the older States The tendency of population is from the rural districts to the cities that is as an able writer has expressed it " from the cradle to the grave of the human race

The Virginia papers are in a ferment about party names The conservative party of the State which has fully identified itself with the Democrats has had a long discussion in committee on the question whether it would adopt the name of the National Democratic party and the more honest course was rejected Now the journals are disturbing themselves about who said [illegible] they [illegible] chosen It makes not the slightest difference one way or the other The Democrats are aware that they may count on the full strength of the "conservative" party and the Republicans understand as fully that the party by whatever name called will be against them

A Broadside for Humbugs

Incompetency and assurance generally go hand in hand and of all the tribe of pretentious knaves with which society is afflicted the unscient fic medicine [illegible] who attempt to tamper with the health of the community are the most dangerous and the most impudent

So much by way of Text Now for a special and particular application

It appears that a mushroom growth of so-called Bitters is springing up under [illegible] names in various localities particularly in the Southern and Western States which the vendors have the hardihood to recommend [illegible] upon whom they think they can impose as a substitute for Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, [illegible] the purest and best medicated stimulant and invigorant the world affords

The [illegible] referred to being composed of worthless [illegible] offer a larger margin for profit than that Celebrated Tonic and hence the anxiety of dollar worshipping dealers to foist them upon the public in its place

But forewarned [illegible] and all parties whom these [illegible] are endeavoring to coax and [illegible] to substitute trash for a standard remedy are hereby informed of the selfish and sordid motives which underlie the representations [illegible]

The great popularity and vast sales of Hostetter's Bitters cannot of course be seriously impaired by these tricks of trade, but as the debilitated and suffering have a direct interest in the matter it is only a matter of common humanity to put them on their guard

Dickens in Camp

Above the pines the moon was slowly drifting,
The river sang below;
The dim Sierras, far beyond, uplifting
Their minarets of snow.

The roaring camp-fire, with rude humor, painted
The ruddy tints of health
On haggard face and form that drooped and fainted
In the fierce race for wealth;

Till one arose, and from his pack's scant treasure
A hoarded volume drew,
And cards were dropped from hands of listless leisure
To hear the tale anew.

And then, while round them shadows gathered faster,
And as the firelight fell,
He read aloud the book wherein the Master
Had writ of "Little Nell."

Perhaps 'twas boyish fancy,—for the reader
Was youngest of them all,—
But, as he read, from clustering pine and cedar
A silence seemed to fall;

The firtrees, gathering closer in the shadows,
Listened in every spray,
While the whole camp, with "Nell" on English meadows
Wandered and lost their way.

And so in mountain solitudes—o'ertaken
As by some spell divine—
Their cares dropped from them like the needles shaken
From out the gusty pine.

Lost is that camp, and wasted all its fire:
And he who wrought that spell?—
Ah, towering pine and stately Kentish spire,
Ye have one tale to tell!

Lost is that camp! but let its fragrant story
Blend with the breath that thrills
With hop-vines' incense all the pensive glory
That fills the Kentish hills.

And on that grave where English oak and holly
And laurel wreaths entwine,
Deem it not all a too presumptuous folly—
This spray of Western pine!

Decision in U. S. District Court

A judgment taken contrary to the bankrupt act is not void unless a petition in bankruptcy is filed by or against the debtor within six months from the entry of the judgment.

A judgment by confession is not void as to others for want of a sufficient statement of the facts out of which the indebtedness arose, except as to creditors who have acquired a lien upon the debtor's property before a sale upon the confessed judgment. Quære, whether such judgment is even then void if it can be shown by evidence aliunde, that the judgment was in fact given in good faith and for an actual debt.

The District Court has jurisdiction to ascertain and liquidate all liens upon the bankrupt's property and in the exercise of this jurisdiction may enjoin a creditor from enforcing a judgment in a State court against the property of the bankrupt, but after the process of the State court has been executed by a sale of property, the District Court will not interfere.

A stipulation in a judgment that the interest on it shall bear interest if not paid annually is void and does not make such judgment usurious.

U. S. District Court for the District of Oregon. Monday, August 1, 1870.

In the matter of Price Fuller, a voluntary bankrupt.

Price Fuller was adjudged a bankrupt in this court on December 20, 1869, upon his own petition therefor, filed on the 18th of the same month.

On March 27, 1869, the bankrupt confessed judgment without action in the Circuit Court for the county of Benton in favor of Green B. Smith for the sum of $2,605, with interest payable annually at one per cent. per month and if not so paid to be considered as principal and thereafter to draw the same rate of interest as the original principal. "The confession states the origin of the indebtedness for which the judgment was confessed as follows:

"The facts out of which said indebtedness arose are these, for money, gold coin, borrowed of and in hand paid to me the said defendant by the said Green B. Smith."

At the date of this judgment the bankrupt owned two tracts of land in Benton county, one containing 640 and the other about 23 acres. The judgment was duly docketed on the day it was confessed and thereafter became a lien upon the real property aforesaid. On November 20, said Smith sued out execution upon said judgment, upon which the sheriff of the county aforesaid on December 2, 1869, sold of the personal property of the bankrupt what brought at such sale $50 50; and on December 21, 1869 said sheriff sold upon said execution the first mentioned tract of land aforesaid to one Thomas Reed for the sum of $2,750; and on January 7, 1870, said sheriff levied upon the second mentioned tract of land aforesaid and was proceeding to sell the same on January 10 thereafter when he was enjoined by the process of this court.

On January 4, 1870, the bankrupt filed a petition in this court praying that the sheriff aforesaid be enjoined from paying over to said Smith any of the proceeds of the sale of the real property aforesaid and from selling upon said execution any of the real property of the bankrupt. On reading and filing the petition an order was made allowing the writ of injunction as prayed for.

In addition to other facts above stated, it was alleged in the petition that the property aforesaid would not fetch so much at the Sheriff's sale as upon a sale by the assignee, because of doubts existing as to the legality of a sale by the former, and that if the property already sold were resold by the assignee it would, in the opinion of the petitioner, bring $3,000, and that said Smith at the time of accepting the confession of judgment aforesaid, "knew the petitioner to be insolvent." On July 11, Smith applied to the court for an order modifying the injunction so as to permit the Sheriff to pay over the proceeds of the property sold before the service of the injunction.

By agreement between counsel for the application and the assignee (who had been appointed since the allowance of the injunction) the motion was heard on July 18. On the hearing among other papers in the case, counsel for the assignee read a paper, verified by said Smith on January 27, setting forth the nature of his demand against the bankrupt, the consideration thereof, what security he had therefor, as above stated, and that the property aforesaid is not worth more than his claim, and "prays that the money in the hands of the Sheriff and the property remaining unsold be released to him."

Upon these facts the reasonable inference is, that Smith took this judgment in violation of the B. act. It was taken with a knowledge of Fuller's insolvency, and therefore must be presumed, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, to have been taken with the belief that a fraud on the act was intended. But as the judgment was given more than six months before the filing of the petition by the bankrupt, it is not void although taken contrary to the act. The bankrupt act does not avoid a judgment except as declared and provided in section 35 of the act. Section 39 declares what confession of judgment shall be deemed an act of bankruptcy. It also imposes a forfeiture of [illegible] upon the creditor who participates in the act of bankruptcy, and gives the assignee a right of action to recover the money or property paid or transferred contrary to the act by means of an act of bankruptcy. But it does not declare that a judgment or other act which is to be deemed an act of bankruptcy on the part of the debtor, is also to be held void as to any one. Sections 35 and 39 must be taken together. The one defines an act of bankruptcy, and the other declares when and under what circumstances acts done or suffered by the debtor shall be void.

So far then as the bankrupt act is concerned this judgment is valid, because it was given within six months before the filing of the petition by the bankrupt. In other words, neither Fuller nor any of his creditors having petitioned to have the debtor adjudged a bankrupt within six months from the confession of the judgment, it is cured by lapse of time.

This injunction was allowed without argument, and at the time I had an impression that the judgment was void under the Code, because the confession did not sufficiently state the facts out of which the indebtedness arose. There can be no question of the insufficiency of the statement, but upon examination of the subject I am satisfied that the judgment is not therefore void. In Miller vs. Earle (24 N. Y.) the question was as to the effect to be given to a judgment like this, and the court said:

"As between the parties themselves, however, the judgment confessed should be held legal and valid, that being so, the levy and sale of property under it was good as against the defendant, and all the world, except judgment creditors and [illegible] having a lien upon the property.

In Lewis vs. [illegible] [illegible] a defective statement by [illegible] in favor of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the court said:

The judgment is good as between Hedley and [illegible], and was not to be attacked for fraud by creditors of [illegible] who had no lien by judgment or direct proceeding but made the property under it to innocent parties.

It is laid down that a judgment thus confessed upon a defective statement is not absolutely void, and only so as to creditors who have a lien upon the property that is to be affected by the judgment. Indeed, in Lewis vs. [illegible], cited above, the learned judge maintained that even as against lien creditors the insufficiency of statement is only prima facie evidence of fraud, and that it was admissible to support the judgment by proof that the transaction was in good faith and the judgment confessed upon an actual, existing debt.

At or before the filing of the petition it does not appear that any of the creditors of the bankrupt had a lien upon the property affected by this judgment: and therefore they were not then in a condition to question its validity. Nor does it appear that they have since obtained a specific lien thereon by judgment or the like, but I think the act must be construed as giving the creditors who prove their debts, from and after the filing of the petition, such a direct interest in the property or assets of the bankrupt as to enable them or the assignee for them to attack such a judgment by suit as fraudulent in law or fact.

The judgment against the bankrupt having by lapse of time become valid, so far as the B. act is concerned, Smith has acquired a lien thereby upon the real property in question. Upon the application of parties interested this court has jurisdiction to ascertain and liquidate this lien. B. Act Sec. [illegible], and while so doing to enjoin Smith from enforcing the same by execution out of the State court. But after the process of the State court has been executed and the property sold thereon, it is too late for this court to interfere. The purchaser at such sale, acquires a good title, and this is so, even if the judgment was fraudulent, provided the purchaser was an innocent one. For this reason, as well as upon general principles, this court could not set aside the sale upon the process of the State court and order the property resold however apparent it may be that it was sold much below its real value. The remedy was in the State court upon objections to the confirmation of the sale.

It is not necessary now to consider whether the assignee may maintain action to recover the proceeds of this property upon the ground that the judgment was void under the Code. This injunction is not ancillary to any suit for that or other purpose, but was allowed under Sec. 40, to prevent "any person from making any transfer or disposition of the debtor's property" pending the petition to have the debtor adjudged a bankrupt. Here, however there seems to be at best, only a right of action in the assignee to recover these proceeds as money had and received to his use. It may also be questioned whether the injunction allowed by Sec. 40, extends to a case of voluntary bankruptcy.

Objection is also made against this judgment that it is usurious. This objection is predicated upon the stipulation in the judgment that the accruing interest should bear interest if not paid annually. There can be no doubt but this provision shows that it was intended that this judgment should draw more than the legal rate of interest. But I do not think a judgment or decree can become usurious by any such means. The Code provides the rate of interest a judgment shall bear and the parties cannot change it by stipulations or terms inserted therein. Such stipulations are simply void,—as for instance, that the interest accruing on a judgment shall be paid annually, and if not, shall bear interest as principal. The payment of a judgment confessed for a sum due may be enforced by execution, but if the creditor neglects or forbears to use this remedy he cannot recover interest on interest accruing in the mean time. Besides, in this case this stipulation never was attempted to be enforced as the property was sold on the execution long before the expiration of the first year after the entry of judgment.

As to the money arising from the sale of the 640 acre tract on December 21, I think the injunction was improperly allowed and so far it must be dissolved and the assignee left to pursue such remedy in the premises, if any, as he may be advised that he has. As to the 23 acre tract a dissolution of the injunction is not asked for. There can be no doubt but that the Court had power to enjoin the attempted sale of this property, but whether there is any sufficient reason for its continuance may be a question. This may depend upon whether the assignee may feel warranted in beginning a suit to set aside the judgment on the ground of fraud. If the judgment should be set aside on that ground, this tract of land would be discharged from the lien and become a part of the general assets of the bankrupt.

As to the $50 50 made on the execution on December 2, by the sale of personal property, it belongs to the estate of the bankrupt. The judgment gave Smith no lien upon the personal property of his debtor, and the filing of the petition in bankruptcy on December 18 and the subsequent adjudication, avoided the lien of the levy made on November 20 previous.

Ordinance No. 823.

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE LETTING of contracts for street work.

The city of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. Whenever the Common Council shall by ordinance provide for the improvement of any street or part of any street in the city of Portland, as the said improvement has been made, the Committee on Streets and Public Property of the Common Council are hereby authorized to advertise for proposals and enter into contracts on behalf of the city for the furnishing of materials and performing the labor necessary for the completion of the proposed improvement subject to the restrictions and regulations hereinafter provided.

Section 2. A notice shall be published not less than three insertions in the newspaper doing the city printing, specifying the name of the street, the part thereof proposed to be improved, the number of the ordinance providing therefor, and the time of letting. No bid shall be received after the time specified in the notice, and the right to reject any and all bids shall be reserved.

Section 3. Bids must specify the price per cubic yard for grading, the price per lineal foot for all wood work [illegible] except sidewalk pavement, which shall be let by the square yard, [illegible] the number of each block bid upon. Each bid shall be accompanied with the undertaking, properly certified, of two freeholders in the sum of five hundred dollars to the effect that if a contract be awarded to such bidder, that he will enter into contract and give bonds for its faithful performance, within forty-eight hours after receiving notice of such award.

Section 4. As soon after the time fixed for receiving bids as practicable, the Committee on Streets and Public Property shall open the same and award contracts to the lowest responsible bidder or bidders, if in their judgment such bids are not unreasonable; provided, however, that an unreasonable bid, a bid for less than all of one class of work charged to one block, or a bid that does not conform to the provisions of this ordinance, shall be rejected.

Section 5. Whenever the Committee on Streets and Public Property and the Street Commissioner shall report to the Common Council that a contractor for work upon the streets has failed to complete his contract with in the time or in the manner specified therein, the Common Council may by resolution declare such contractor delinquent, and thereafter no bid shall be received from such person or persons.

Section 6. The Committee on Streets and Public Property upon awarding a contract or contracts as hereinbefore provided, shall fix the amount of bond to be given by each contractor, and upon receiving a statement of such award and amount of bond, it is hereby made the duty of the City Attorney to prepare such bond and contract in accordance with the award.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE,

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering now a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from the absorbed virus in the system! Look at their pallid, sunken and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life! In this horrid affliction thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering from any of these horrible and destroying maladies, and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and the favorite to cure them most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing that they are curing all diseases in a few days, trying to impose on the public by using the names of eminent physicians of Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, this solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails in affecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by others of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them as they [illegible] obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks [illegible], who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are daily found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and are too lazy to work at their trades. Some are [illegible] makers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid them, is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended private letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons calling at his office of his ability to treat disease before he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, near Commercial, (Private Entrance on [illegible] street) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform Dr. Gibbon that they read his advertisement in the DAILY [illegible].
